An Insight into April 2012 UK Durable Sectors

www.gfkrt.com/uk

- The total durables market declined -10.9% in April compared to the same month last year. This was driven by heavy falls in the DIY/gardening sector where poor weather had a disastrous effect on spending over the important Easter bank holiday weekend.
- There was better news for the household appliance sectors – month on month, the value attributable to small and major domestic appliances grew 15.7% and 8.9% respectively.
- In the consumer electronics sector, the audio/visual segment grew for the first time since June 2010. Here, the televisions category is key and factors influencing positive results include the launch of new models as well as events such as the forthcoming European football and continuing digital switchover.

How Has the Consumer Electronics Sector Performed?

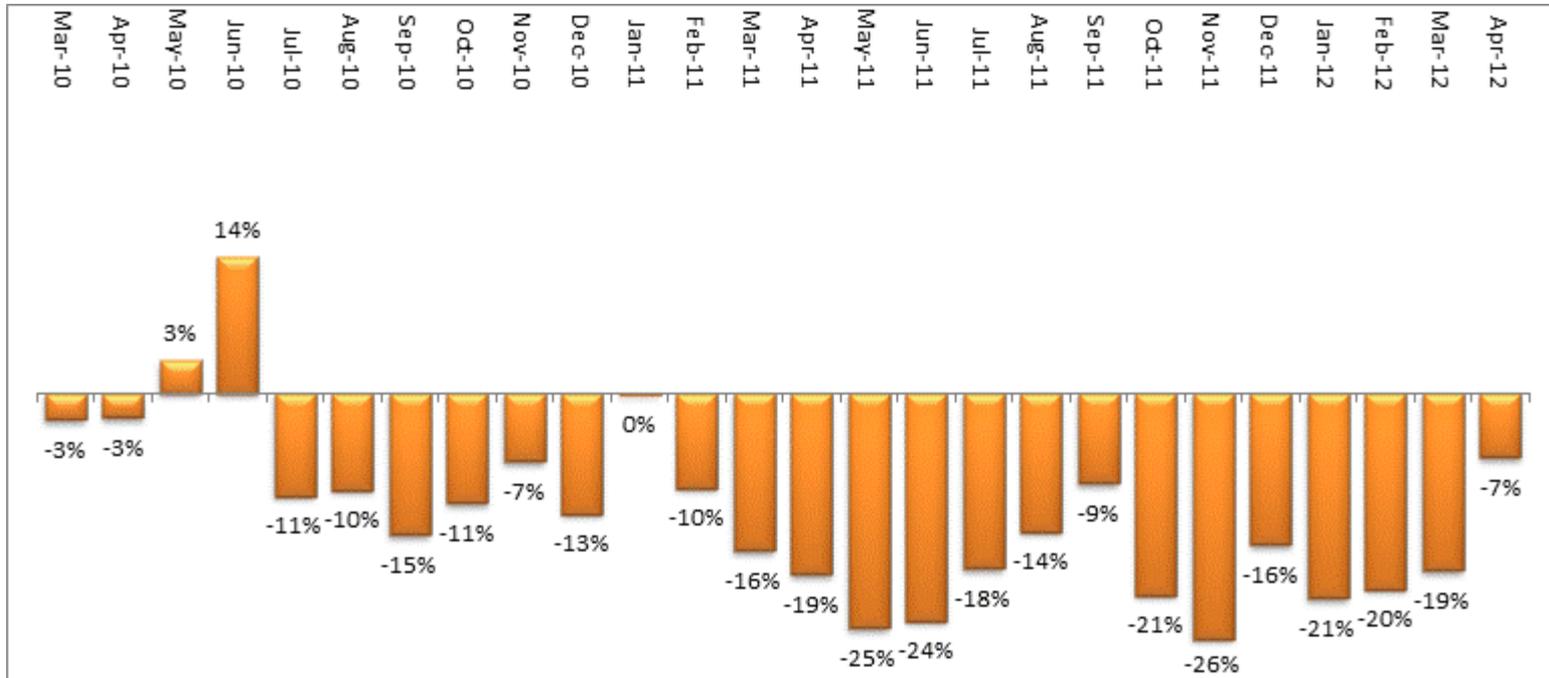

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
(this month versus the same month last year)

How Has the Consumer Electronics Hardware Sector Performed?

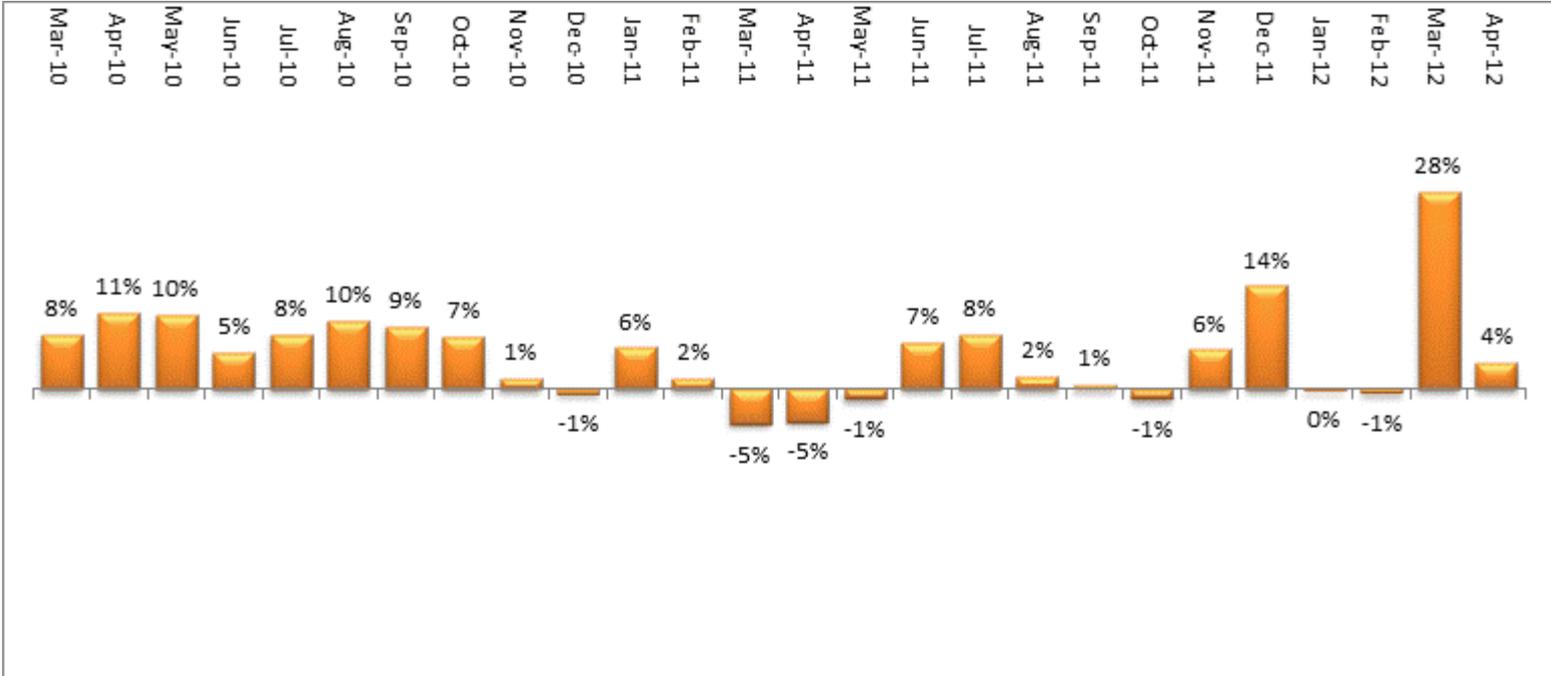

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
(this month versus the same month last year)

Despite the UK economy re-entering recession, there are glimmers of hope for the consumer electronics sector. The overall decline slowed whilst the audio/visual segment showed its first month on month increase since June 2010. With events such as the European football and London Olympics on the way, the televisions product category may well receive a further boost over the next few months.

How Has the IT Sector Performed?

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
(this month versus the same month last year)

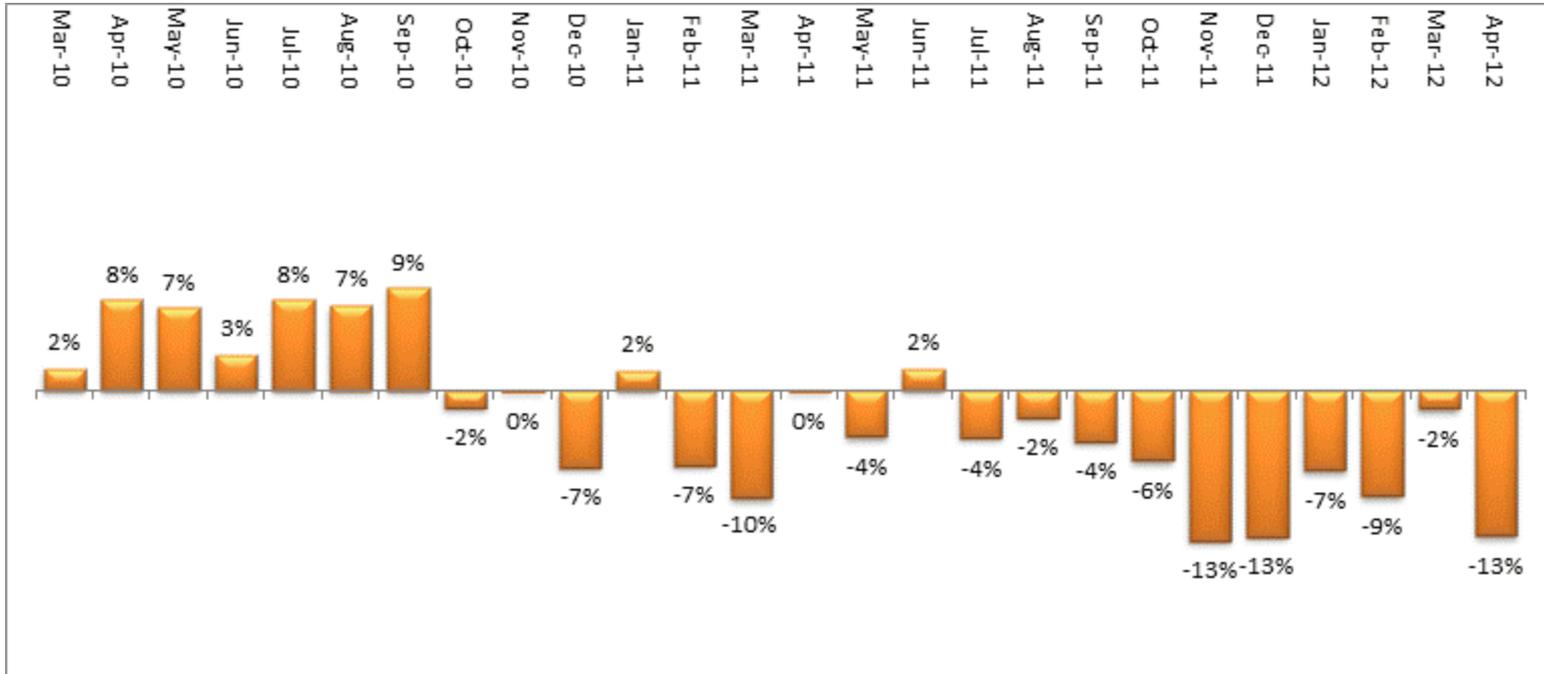

Retail sales were more positive than business to business in April, with web books continuing to drive growth along with electronic assistants and networking products.

How Has the Photo Sector Performed?

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
(this month versus the same month last year)

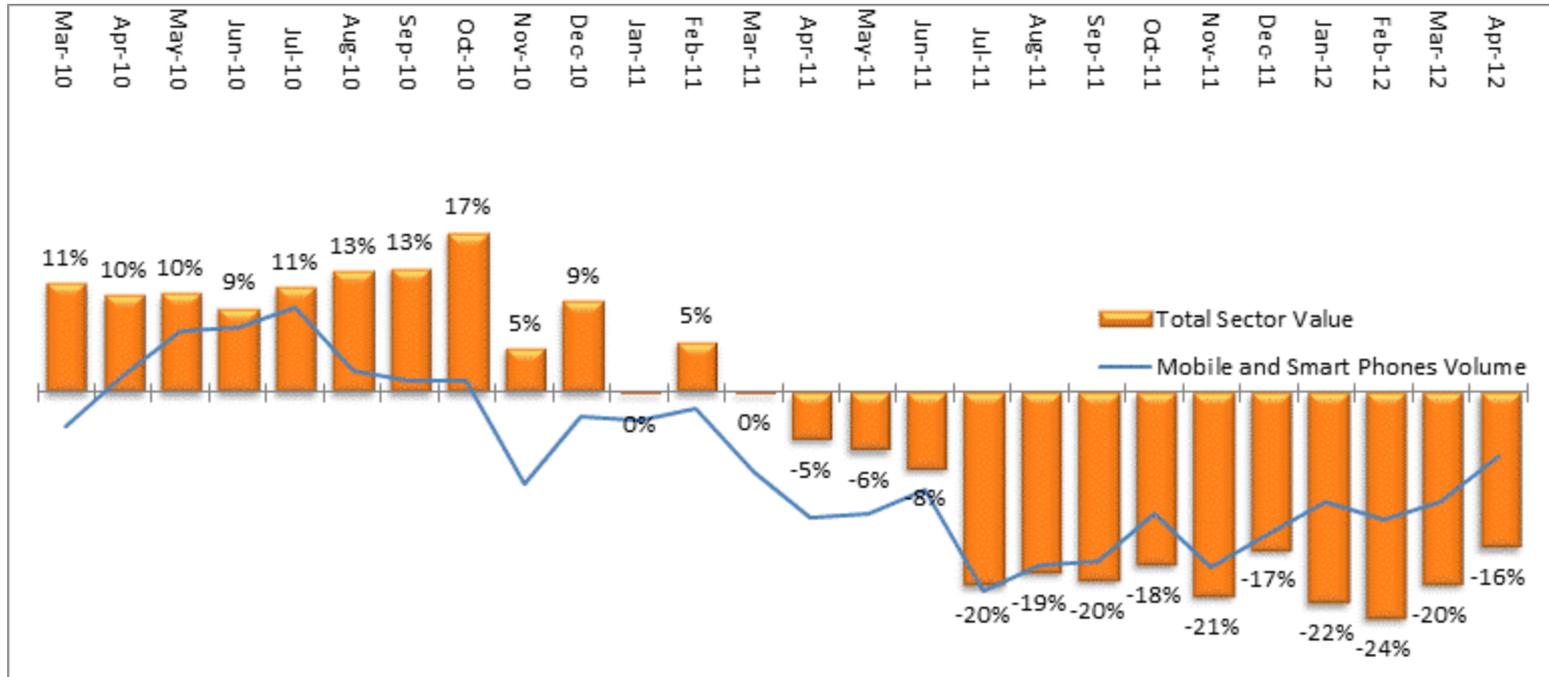

The continuing decline in the photo sector is driven by a volume and value drop in standard compact cameras as smart phones continue to cause cannibalisation.

How Has the Telecommunications Sector Performed?

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
(this month versus the same month last year)

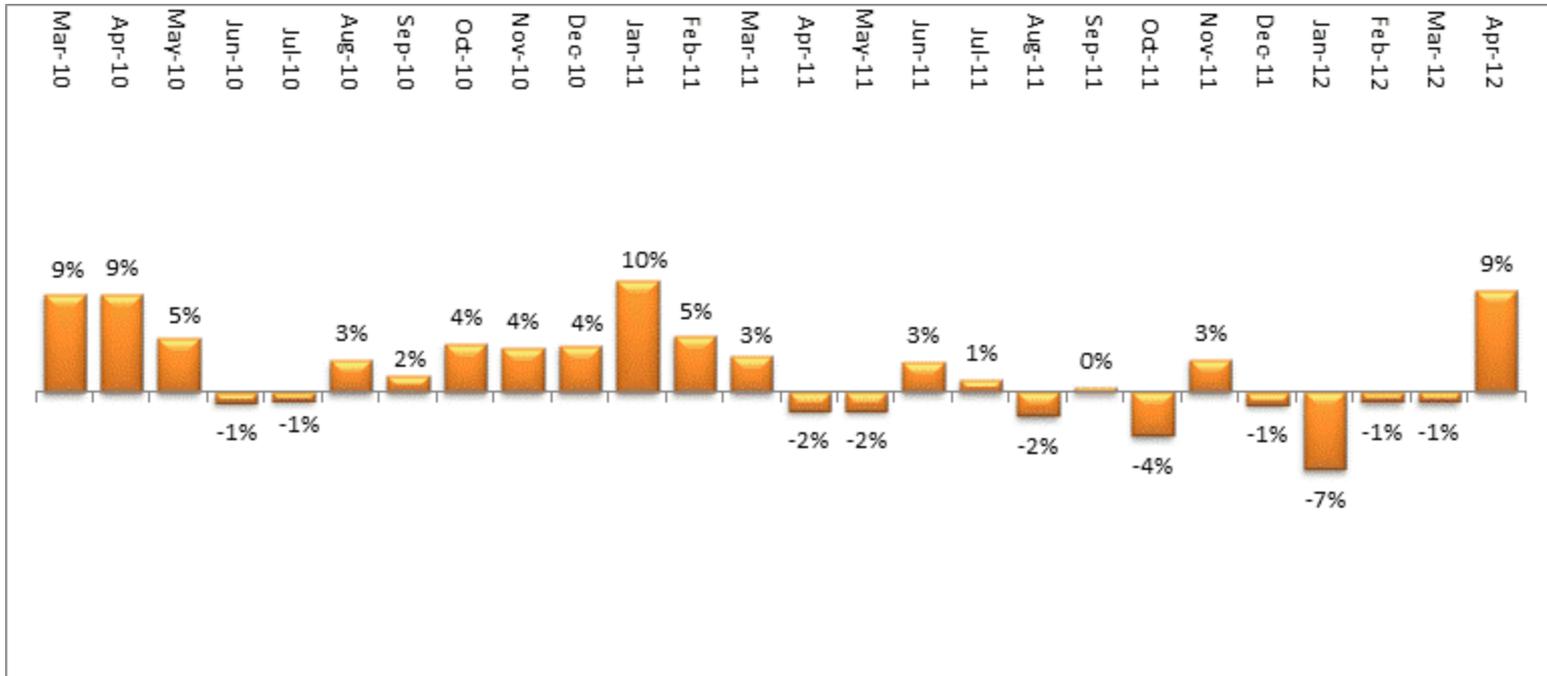

Whilst the pre pay segment continues to drive the overall decline in the telecommunications sector, the mobile broadband market has seen encouraging growth in April. The increase here can be attributed to a key device launch within the web books product category.

How Has the Major Domestic Appliances Sector Performed?

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
(this month versus the same month last year)

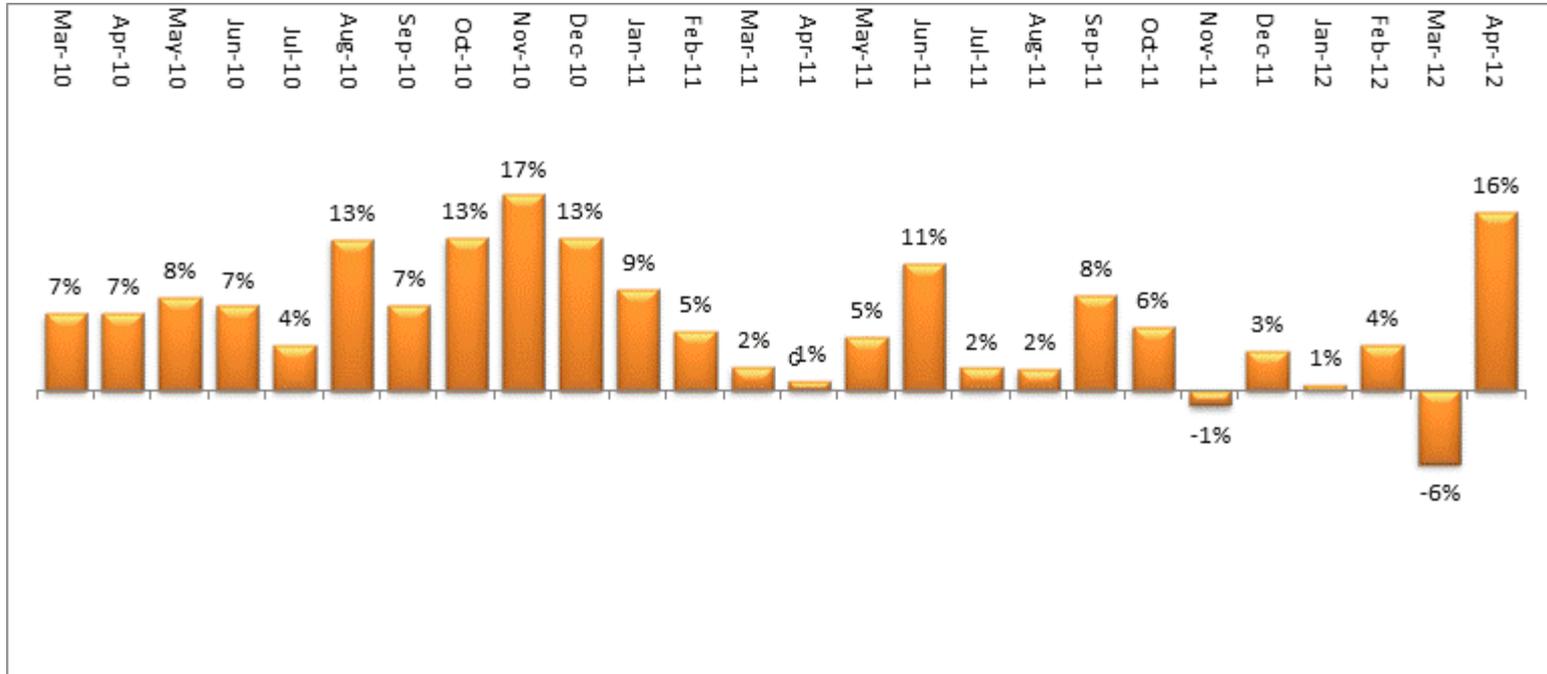

Strong growth in the major domestic appliances sector is driven by the cooking and washing machines product categories which grew 14% and 9% respectively month on month.

How Has the Small Domestic Appliances Sector Performed?

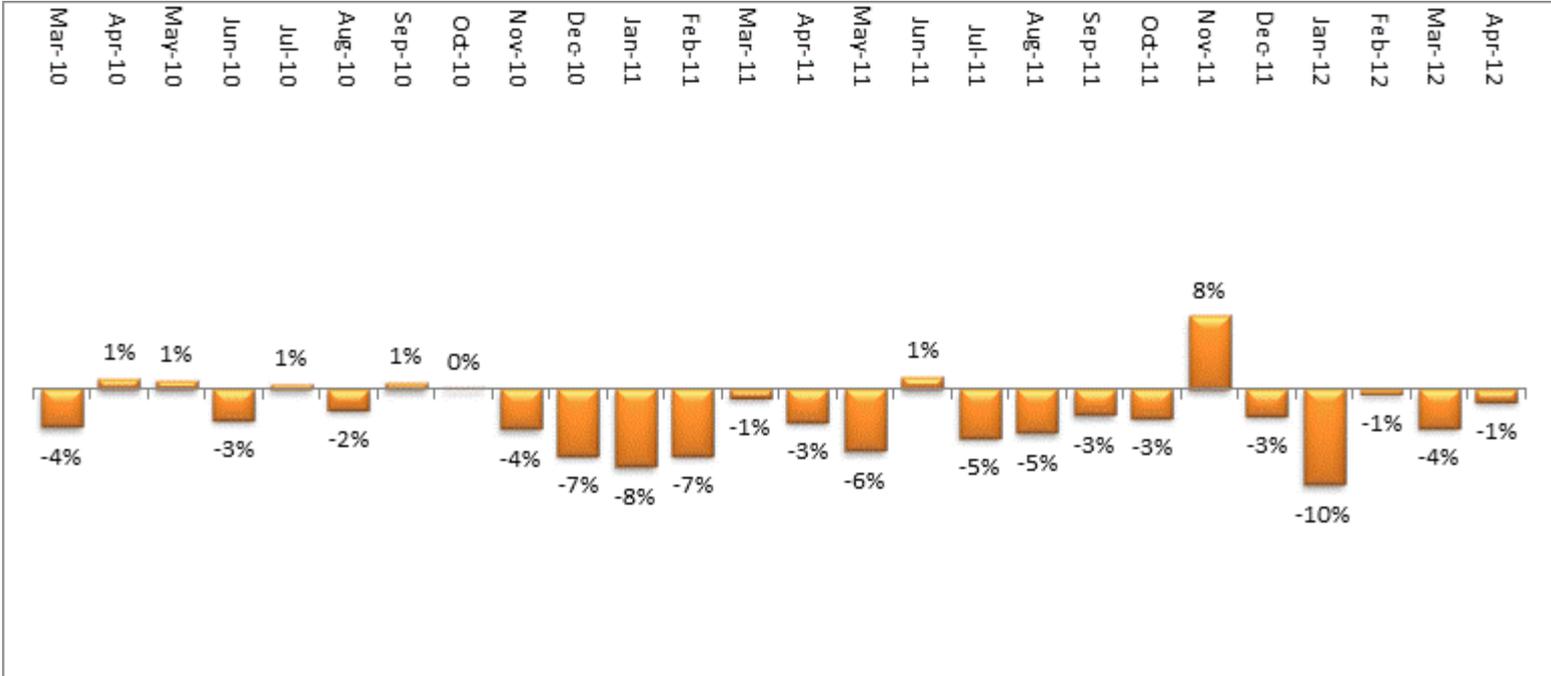

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
(this month versus the same month last year)

Vacuum cleaners – the largest value contributor to the small domestic appliances sector – grew 12% on April last year. In the kitchen, kettles and toasters grew 13% and 15% respectively month on month.

How Has the Office Sector Performed?

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
 (this month versus the same month last year)

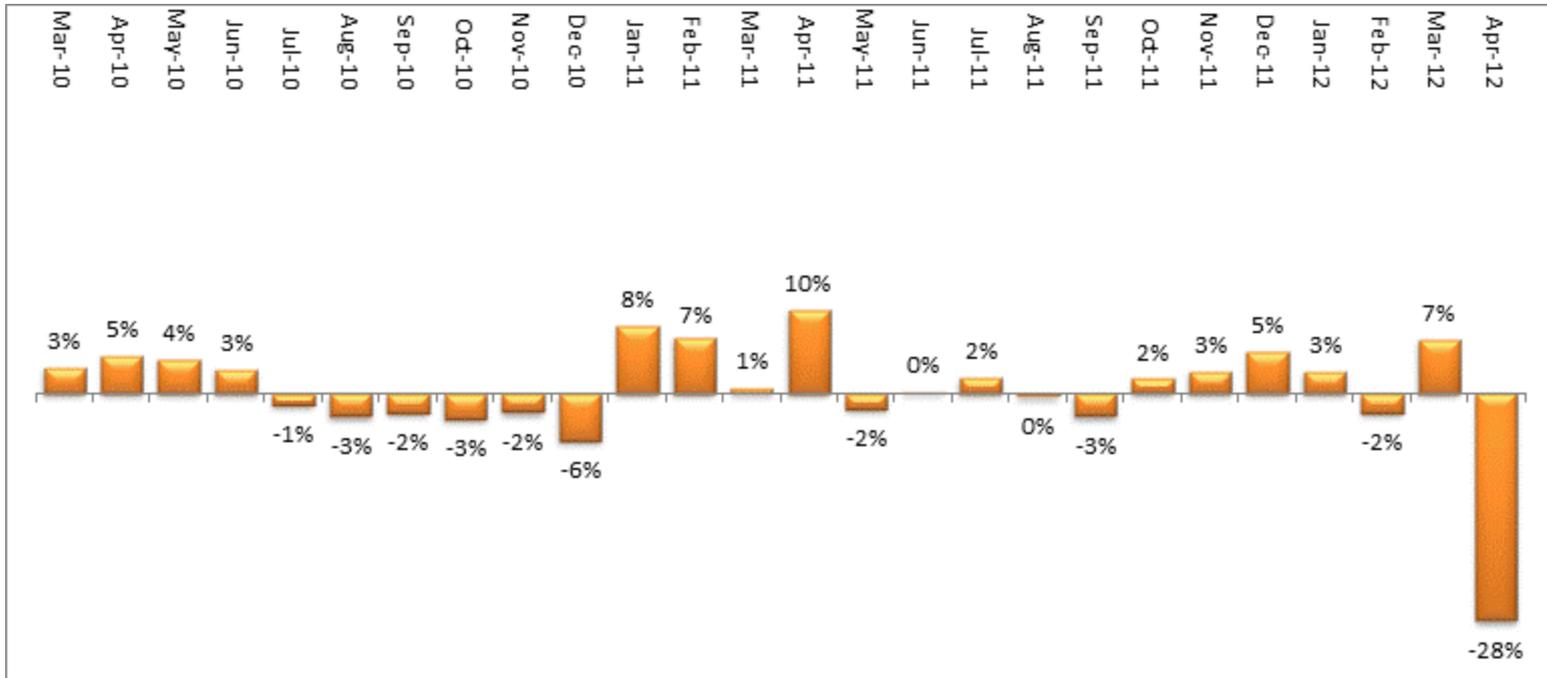

There are mixed results across the stationery segment – highlighters and felt pens both grew 20% month on month whilst correction products and repositionable notes declined 10% and 14% respectively.

How Has the DIY/Gardening Sector Performed?

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
(this month versus the same month last year)

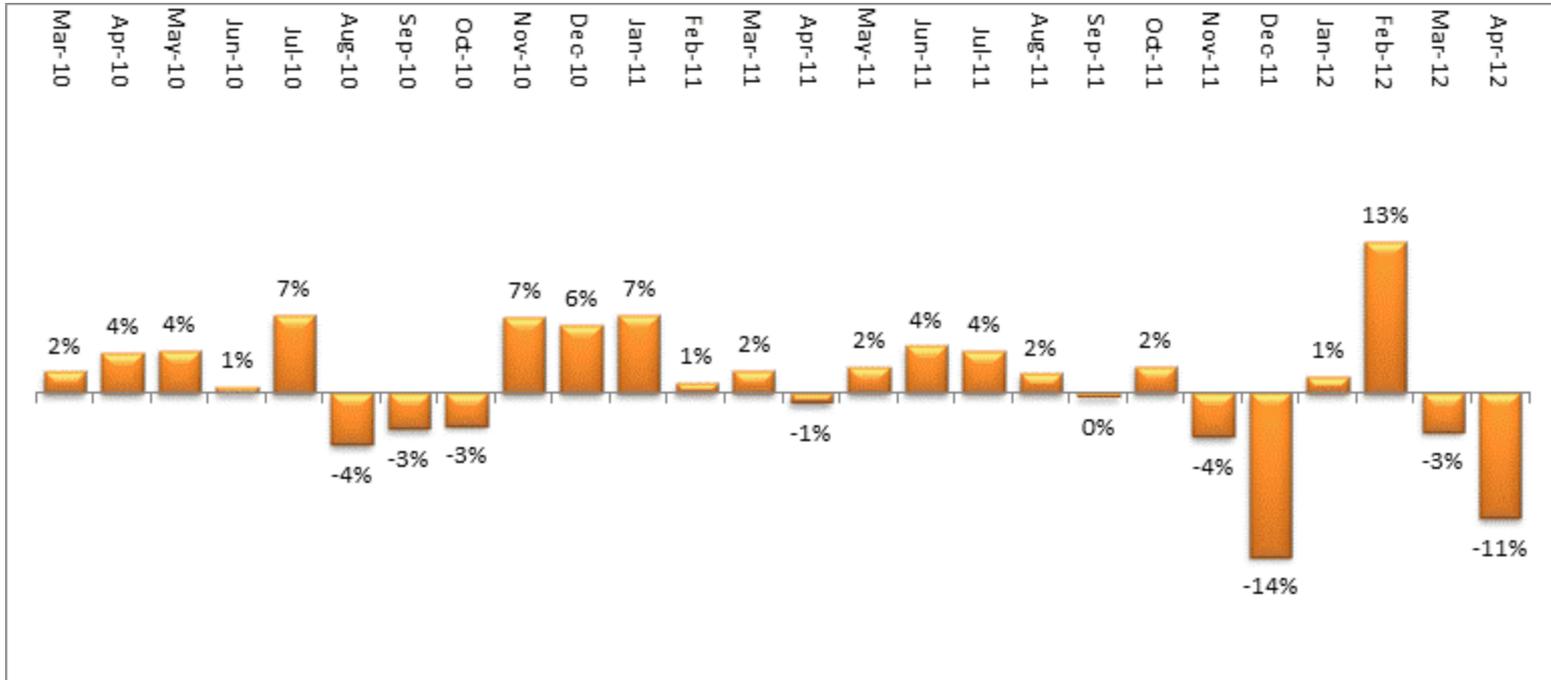

The disastrous decline in the DIY/gardening sector was driven by poor April weather, which impacted heavily sales of garden related products as consumers stayed indoors.

How Has the Automotive Sector Performed?

Month on Month % Growth in Sector Value
(this month versus the same month last year)

Continued decline in the cleaning product categories drove the fall in the automotive sector. The paint care category fell by 28% on April last year, while wheel cleaners declined by 48%. This was largely weather related.
